

Maximizer feature with Outlook

Maximizer CRM has a feature which can enable you to address an email in Outlook using an email address stored in Maximizer. This is a great time saving feature especially if you then click the Maximizer send/save button.

When you create a new email in Outlook there are two easily overlooked buttons on the add-in tab (or Maximizer tab if you are a web client user).

If you click the button highlighted above then Maximizer will pop up a search screen and allow you to search Maximizer for email addresses to appear in your To: cc: or bcc: list.

Don't forget that after you have written your email you can send it and save it to your contacts in Maximizer by clicking the send email button (also shown above) instead of the normal outlook send button.
